

Safe2Tell is Actively Accepting Applications for its Student Ambassador Program

A solid GPA, extracurricular activity participation and mad social networking skills are all impressive but we are also seeking high school students who:

- Are socially conscious
- Are empathetic about mental health and other issues facing teens and youth
- Feel a need to sit with the kid eating alone
- Have experience with either side of bullying
- Have a humble desire to lead peers
- Are genuinely interested in being part of a real solution

If you know of a student who just might be a match, please have them request an application by emailing S2Tambassador@coag.gov. More details about role expectations and ambassador benefits are included with the application.
